A brief history...

Alcon Lighting opened its doors in 1987 in sunny Los Angeles, California. At the time, it was primarily an electric supply store selling mostly wires, pipes, wall switches, rheostats and light bulbs.

In 2002, after the initial shift towards energy efficient lighting, Alcon Lighting began stocking fluorescents and some then funky looking LED light bulbs for their showroom.

Now with access to over 300 lighting manufacturers-80% of which focus solely on energy efficient lighting-Alcon Lighting has become highly recognized as a leading energy efficient lighting distributor.

Along with shipping globally, Alcon Lighting has a Los Angeles-based retail store, showroom, and warehouse serving the Greater Los Angeles area.

Los Angeles, as the second-largest city in the country, makes a big difference through the choices it makes, and it has chosen to be a leader on sustainability. If we all work together — environmentalists, businesses, activists, ordinary citizens and governments — we can push our city, our nation and the world toward a clean, sustainable future.
